

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A black ink for ink-jet recording, which is excellent in durability of image (including durability of image quality) and discharging property, obtained by dissolving and/or dispersing at least one black azo dye having a particular property or structure in an aqueous medium, wherein a transition metal ion content of the black ink is 0.1 mmol/l or less.